The Data Science Handbook: Advice and Insights from 25 Amazing Data Scientists Carl Shan, William Chen, Henry Wang, Max Song

The Data Science Handbook contains interviews with 25 of the world's best data scientists. We sat down with them, had in-depth conversations about their careers, personal stories, perspectives on data science and life advice. In The Data Science Handbook, you will find war stories from DJ Patil, US Chief Data Officer and one of the founders of the field. You'll learn industry veterans such as Kevin Novak and Riley Newman, who head the data science teams at Uber and Airbnb respectively. You'll also read about rising data scientists such as Clare Corthell, who crafted her own open source data science masters program. This book is perfect for aspiring or current data scientists to learn from the best. It's a reference book packed full of strategies, suggestions and recipes to launch and grow your own data science career.
